Facing New Frontiers

As the sun rises on the 1980-81 school year, each student prepares to face the challenges of the future. From freshmen to seniors, new frontiers await conquering, new trails await exploring.

The challenges that loom ahead range from seniors getting ready for college, to the responsibilities of just being one year older and moving on at John Adams. Along with the responsibilities come the rewards: a driver's license, a spot on a varsity team, a high school diploma.

But after that 3:00 bell, the fun begins and the books are left lonely, collecting dust until discovered Sunday night. Parties, concerts, pizza, Putt-Putt, or just wasting away at the mall talking to a friend becomes the order of the weekend. This is the way our weekends drain away, leaving us less than cheery when our Monday morning alarms signal the beginning of five days within the friendly confines of [AHS. We can still look forward to our favorite classes, roaming the hallways, or just beating the bell to class.

Stuffing balloons in a classmate's shirt, bobbing for apples at midcourt, drinking Coke out of a baby bottle, and always answering "we are!" to Mr. Przybysz's "Who's gonna win tonight?" are ways a good pep assembly delays second hour.

Yet we can all look back with pride at the progress we have made the last year; the mountains we climbed, the deserts we crossed, and the tracks we left behind us. And all of us leaving John Adams can be proud of having made it a better place for those who still have new trails to blaze.

I'm a Real Live Buckaroo

Through books, motion pictures, and radio, the legends of the old west are still alive. Rustlers, cowpunchers and horsemen come alive in movies such as The Urban Cowboy, and The Electric Horseman. And all this excitement about the west, has touched upon everyone in some way.

Country western music hit the pop charts as well as the country charts with artists like Kenny Rogers, Willie Nelson, and Dolly Parton.

Frye boots, the Stetson hat, and Levis jeans became the popular style in school, while leather boots, belts, and vests have also been famous. And with Reagan in office, with his cowboy boots and hat, the whole nation has gone a "little country".

Cowpokes Stampede to Class

A day at Adams is like a day at the OK Corral. Many students enjoy their programmed days consisting of homework, classes, homework, lunch, and more homework. This is not all fun and games, because there is much work to be done. The many students that stampede to class every day know the meaning of hard work, but they don't always buckle down and do it. Many find the work exhausting and end up day-dreaming or sleeping the hour away. But for those who have the stamina, the day becomes an adventure in reading, writing, and arithmetic.

How the Weekends Were Won

How do you spell relief? W-E-E-K-E-N-D-S. Every student looks forward to weekends. Whether spent shopping, working, or movie going, they are always a welcome break from a hectic school week. Of course some students choose to stay home and engage in a less strenuous activity called sleeping. But for the most part, they are a time for cutting loose, putting homework aside, and spending a little time with friends. Parties, sports, and eating, seem to dominate everyone's free time. But no matter how they are spent, weekends are always worth waiting for.

Yep, It's Prep!

The 1980-81 school year can best be remembered as the year of the "Izod" and the cowboy hat. Our two dominating fashions were the "Eastern Preppie" look, and the "Western Cowboy" look.

The "Preppie" style consisted of the ever-popular "Izod" sweater and shirt, monogram sweater and shirt, "Calvin Klein" jeans, and boat shoes, or penny loafers.

For the cowboy and cowgirl, "Levis" were common, along with western shirts, belts, boots, hats, and sharp corduroy blazers.

The casual look was a simple pair of jeans, a "Campus" sweatshirt bearing the name of a favorite university, or perhaps a ski sweater or warm-up jacket. Shoes for this style of dress were loafers and "Nikes", an athletic shoe, which quickly passed up the famous "Adidas" for popularity.

Margaret Hanlon and Joe Carper chose the "Preppie" look for their style.

Talented Critters

Besides the homework, the foodfights, and the hallguards, there are many different kinds of talent and creativity to be found at our school. There are those who bring the world of music to our ears, and those who create a picture just by a stroke of a brush or pen.

This is just a glimpse of the fine arts waiting to be discovered. From music to painting, or writing to drawing, we at Adams are fortunate to behold these.

YIPPEE!

What is considered priceless but cannot be stolen from the halls of John Adams? it's "spirit", of course! Spirit is the force which compels us to rise to our feet during the school song, cheer with our fellow classmates at pep assemblies, and even march in the rain on a muddy football field for a star-spangled half-time show. Spirit is present to make us strive to get that winning point in the game, or to study that extra hour to see "Honor Roll" stamped on our report cards.

stagecoach cinema

The movies, NOW THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT. Going to the movies still remained America's favorite pastime although ticket prices continued to soar. And as they soared T.V.'s HBO and Showtime became more and more popular.

Country western, science fiction, and dramas continued to remain a success at the box office. Coal Miner's Daughter, The Urban Cowboy, and The Electric Horseman were favorites of those who went to the theater, and didn't mind paying the high prices.

The Empire Strikes Back received as much praise as the ever loved Star Wars, and The Blues Brothers brought madness to the screen.

Movies may have changed in character and style, but they still are a reflection of the mood of the times.

Headin' into Town

After a hectic week at school, many Adams students looked forward to either concerts, movies, skating, basketball games, or T.V. Weekend nights were made for forgetting our homework and problems and just having fun with our friends.

Skiing and innertubing were popular nighttime activities, and if your ankles were strong enough, skating at Howard Park or the Ice Box was a special treat.

The appearance of Bruce Springsteen at the ACC was the highlight of this year's concert line-up. Those who could afford the high prices, enjoyed a spectacular and unique performance.

After the fun Friday and Saturday nights, all that was left were the books to be read, and the papers to be written.

RIGHT: One of the highlights of the year was the Bruce Springsteen concert. His performance at the ACC was one of the finest rock & roll shows ever.

Swing Your Partner Round N' Round

The Post-Valentines Day Dance, the second dance of the year, was held on Saturday February 21st. It was sponsored by the Student Government, and took place in the P.E. gym. Many Student Government members spent their after school hours painting signs and decorating the gym with the traditional colors associated with Saint Valentines Day. A special feature to this dance was the marriage booth. Guys with their favorite gals stood in line, waiting to be married. Reverend Allen Engle, Tom Devetski, and Tom Ernspurger performed the services. Every young couple enjoyed receiving a wedding license.

The success of this dance was due to the careful planning and hard work of the Student Government and the enthusiasm of our student body. All who came to the dance had a great time, even though Valentines Day was a week late. With the excellent turnouts of people to this year's dances, we are assured that those who plan dances in the near future will also be just as successful.

ABOVE AND BELOW: For those who were able to attend the dance, the night was filled with romance and music.

Juniors Saddle Seniors

The 1980 Powderpuff Bowl was from the beginning, a victory for the junior class.

In the first game against the freshmen, they quickly picked up the lead due to quarterback Beth Carter, who proved her athletic skills with flawless plays. The freshman, although quite strong, were defeated by a score of 25-0. The second game between the sophomores and the seniors was close and exciting. The half-time score was tied 6-6, but in the third quarter Theresa Engeman scored 12 points which put the seniors in the finals. The final game left the juniors victorious and was filled with a fine display of flag football. Senior players Sandy Call, Greta Ehlert, and Bebe Chavez, held strongly against their competitors, only to lose by two touchdowns.

Our Town Draws Crowds

Do any human beings ever realize life while they live it? This was the question taken home by the audiences who attended the Drama club's 1980 fall play presentation of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town." The play was under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Goerner and was performed on November 6th, 7th, and 8th. The story of "Our Town" takes place in Grover's Corner, New Hampshire and is narrated by the Stage Manager Lisa Fujawa. The story involves two families, and how they cope with life, love, marriage, and death. Along with a talented cast, the hard-working crews contributed to the show's outstanding success.

Bradshaw's Wild West Shows

During the long winter months the John Adams Drama Club presented two successful productions, "The Marriage Proposal" and "The Lottery". Both were directed by Ms. Rhoda Bradshaw in the Little Theatre, January 16th and 18th. "The Marriage Proposal," written by Anton Chekov, was about a nervous suitor trying to gain the hand of a touchy, but eager Russian girl.

"The Lottery" by Shirley Jackson, included many returning actors and actresses and included new talents. Although "The Lottery" delighted the audience with its humor, it also brought fright and sadness because of the stoning of one person for the purpose of tradition.

About and Yonder

The past year has brought many changes to Adams, South Bend, and the country. While some of these changes were considered disturbing, others were thought of as moving ahead.

At Adams, a new computer program was established for students who wanted an introduction to this new technology. The Little Theatre received a new ventilation system and a few of the thermostats were repaired. Throughout the city, tension rose because of the new integration program, gas prices soared, and a new orange art sculpture was placed in the St. Joe River.

Washington State's Mount St. Helens blew up, sending ash and smoke over many parts of the country, and Ronald Reagan replaced Jimmy Carter in the White House. The long episode of the hostages in Iran ended after 444 days. All these events of the past prepare us for the years ahead.

ABOVE RIGHT: Computers bring many hours of entertainment and learning skills both here at Adams and in the home.

ABOVE: As the Adams student climbs on the bus, he hopes that the integration plans won't force him to leave his familiar school.

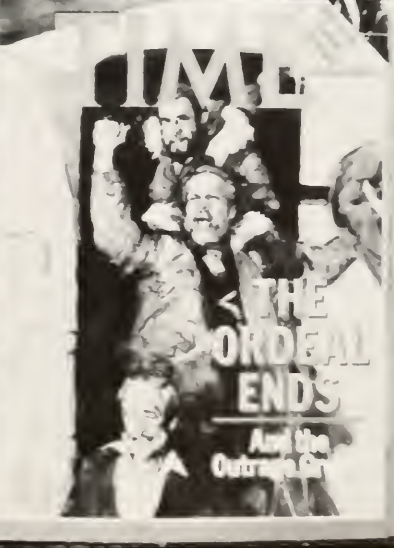

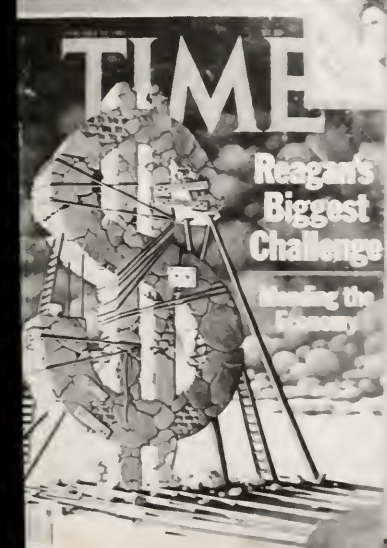

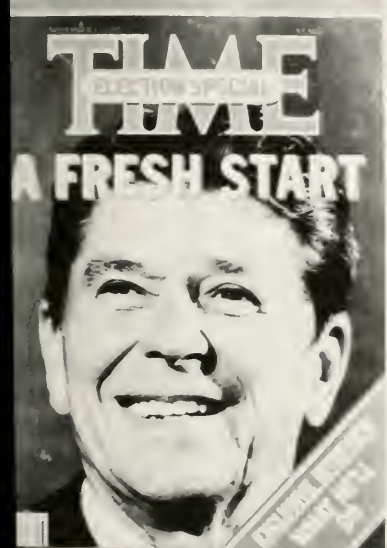

ABOVE CENTER: The rising gas prices continue to challenge the budgets of student drivers.

OUR TIME MAKES LEGENDS

Eagles Stirrup Spirit

This year's spirit week assembly celebrated the beginning of the 1981 basketball sectional tourney, and many students devoted their after school hours to decorating the gym with signs for class competition, and building of spirit chains.

Led by M.C.'s Tom Devetski and Tom Ernsperger, the activities included routines by the pom-pom and rifle squads, a shoe race, skits, and a baby bottle contest which was won by Mr. Poe.

The seniors were the victors in the class competition, the spirit chain, and the "Whose gonna win tonight?" cheer that was led by Dave Darnell.

RIGHT: After being babied by the cheerleaders, Mr. Poe finishes his bottle first and is ready for his nap.

FAR ABOVE LEFT: Head Eagle substitute Dave Darnell smiles as the student body reply to: "Whose gonna win tonight?"
 ABOVE: Brian Lennon expresses the joy felt by everyone after defeating #2 ranked Lasalle in the sectionals.

Roaming the Hallways

The most popular place to be at Adams is the hallway. The hustle and bustle of movement from class to class is a mild as any intersection during rush hour. But commuting to and from class is only a small part of the activity which takes place there.

The halls also set the scenes for morning studying, birthday parties, an occasional fight, or romance.

To the inexperienced freshman, the hallways are dark and sinister places, filled with snarling hallguards and confusing corridors. But to the upper classman and faculty member, our hallways are the choices for social life and entertainment.

LEFT: "Hello Mom? Can you pick me up?" refrains Laurie Vogel

Herding Them in "Two by Two"

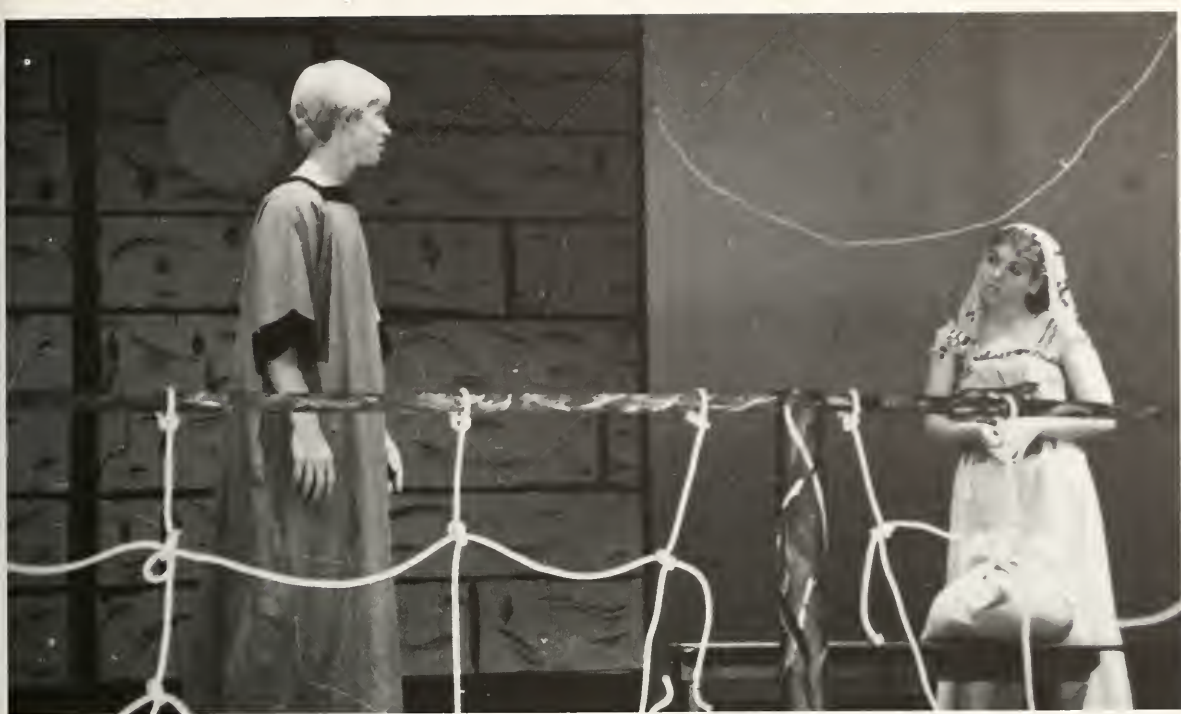

Do you remember the story of Noah and the ark? Many students thought they did until the John Adams Drama Club presented its spring musical presentation, "Two by Two", on May 7th, 8th, and 9th. The production was under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Geornor, and brought a colorful, humorous tale of Noah's efforts to get his wife and family on the ark. Accompanied by the orchestra, the musical filled the auditorium with song and dance. The hours of hard work and dedication for both cast and crew, proved Adams to be once again the finest form of entertainment.

A Formal Shindig

This year's prom provided fun and excitement for both juniors and seniors. Renting a Tux, buying a dress, and making reservations at your favorite restaurant were just a few of the things one had to do before that special night.

This year's theme was "Precious and Few", and the South Bend Century Center's atmosphere brought it to life. A mellow band like Smith & Co., the rushing water from the dam and a clear blue sky above, accented the greatness of the evening.

While entering the Great Hall, each couple received a flower, brandy snifter and booklet as a souvenir of the dance. The prom, unlike most dances, is a time for the upperclassmen to dress-up and share the evening with a special friend.

But after midnight, the night had just begun because the after-prom, champagne breakfasts, parties, and Tower Hill were still to come.

The prom, "Precious and Few", was a night for many.

Seniors Corral Wagon Load of Knowledge

A total of 375 graduates took the final walk across the stage, thus commencing a new life: The life after high school. May 31, 1981, was the Fortieth Annual Commencement. The class of 1981 was no different from previous graduation classes. It bestowed many honor graduates including four Summa Cum Laude, eighteen Magna Cum Laude, and twenty-four Cum Laude graduates. But the class of 1981 has left its mark at Adams. Their leadership and poise was an example for the whole school and their achievements set them apart from other John Adams graduating classes. This class will not soon be forgotten.

Freshmen Round-Up

"How do you get to the tower?"
 "What are the teachers like?"
 "Are the finals THAT hard?"

These comments were just a few that were asked when the first day of 1980-1981 school year had arrived. It was apparent to everyone at John Adams that a very large group of enthusiastic and spirited students had joined us. The class of 1984 is led by president Brian Baer, vice-president Ann Anderson, secretary Christy Conklin, and treasurer Margaret Duesterberg. These eager individuals participated in numerous extracurricular activities, such as various sports activities and participating on a Powderpuff team for the first time, and held a spice sale that turned out to be a big success. This year's Freshmen are the most active during the pep assemblies, and they decorated their own section of the auditorium for spirit week beautifully. Many more exciting and worthwhile things can be expected from this determined and very special class in the years to come at John Adams High School.

CLOCKWISE: Class officers are Peggy Duesterberg, Christy Conklin, Brian Baer, and Ann Anderson.

Along the Road

Joy at the start
 Fear in the journey
 Joy in the coming home
 A part of the heart
 Gets lost in the learning
 Somewhere along the road
 Along the road
 Your path may wonder
 A pilgrim's faith may fail
 Absence makes the heart grow fonder
 Darkness obscures the trail
 Cursing the quest
 Courting disaster
 Measureless nights forbade
 Moments of rest
 Glimpses of laughter
 Are treasured along the road
 Along the road
 Your steps may stumble
 Your thoughts may start to stray
 But through it all a heart held humble
 Levels and lights your way

Sophomore Stampede

Although the Adams class of 1983 have left their freshman year behind, they still had to face another year of being one of the youngest. Even so, this year's sophomores showed great togetherness as a group. The class of 83, led by president, Andy Heckaman, vice-president, Diane Farmer, treasurer, Diane Mennucci, and secretary, Jane Wygant, sold sweaters to raise money for their prom next year. They received their class rings, and their first drivers' license. When spirit week commenced, they impressed everyone with their colorful signs and decorations. With all this accomplished, we can see great things as they move into their next two years at J.A.

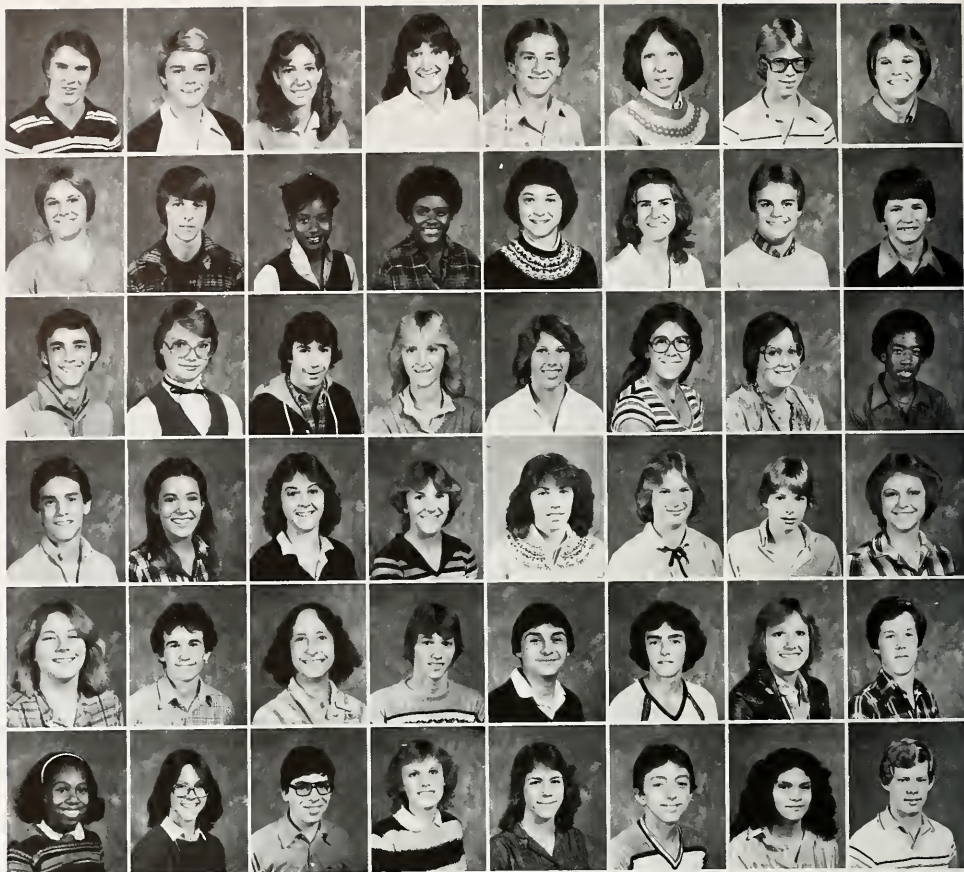

I get discouraged now and then
When there are clouds of gray
Until I think about the things
That happened yesterday.
I do not mean the day before
Or those of months ago
But all the yesterdays in which
I had the chance to grow.
I think of opportunities
That I allowed to die
And those I took advantage of
Before they passed me by.
And I remember that the past
Presented quite a plight
But somehow I endured it and
The future seemed all right.
And I remind myself that I
Am capable and free
And my success and happiness
Are really up to me.

Junior Rustlers

Energetic and determined, those two words best describe the John Adams class of 1982. For some third year Eagles, the 1980-1981 school year was described as "my best year ever", and "the hardest year I've ever had." Enthusiastically, each junior contributed a little part of himself in every activity the class accomplished. Demonstrating superior decorating and organizing skills, the junior section in the auditorium was one of the best. They were also very successful in their popcorn sale, which was the big fund raiser for the prom! The accomplishments of this class are due to their unity as a group, and their superb leadership. President Brian Lennon, vice-president Kevin Sweeney, treasurer Todd Parker, and secretary Dawn Hudson felt that this past school year was only the beginning of good things to come. Next year brings that ultimate dream. We'll be SENIORS!

Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.
New made friendships, like new wine,
Age will mellow and refine.
Friendships that have stood the test—
Time and change—are surely best;
Brow may wrinkle, hair grow grey;
Friendship never knows decay.
For mid old friends, tried and true
Once more we our growth renew.
But old friends, alas! may die,
New friends must their place supply.
Cherish friendship in your breast—
New is good, but old is best;
Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.

IN MEMORIAM

David Prior
Sept. 16, 1962
Sept. 16, 1980

And learn o voyager to walk
The roll of earth, the pitch and fall
That swings across these trees those stars:
That swings the sunlight up the wall.

And learn upon these narrow beds
To sleep in spite of sea, in spite
Of sound the rushing planet makes:
And learn to sleep against this ground.

Happy Trails to You

"Who is better, there is none, We're the class of '81!" Yes, that is the chant that has joined and united our class together during our "four year residency" at John Adams. In our "fros" year, we illustrated to the upper classmen our enthusiastic spirit at pep assemblies. During our sophomore year, our never-ending chant followed a number one ranked basketball team to its many victories and agonizing defeat. As we strolled into our junior year, the class as a whole joined together to successfully raise money through the candy sale. We encountered new responsibilities and were faced with the "adult world" through the job market. Finally, in our senior year, our school spirit was able to dominate over that of the under classmen. We had proved our diligence and capabilities to the entire school by making record sales in our magazine sell-a-thon. But our reward goes beyond the acknowledgement of our accomplishments. We each have our own cherished memories which touch each individual in a special way.

The class of '81 has been unique in the sense that we were able to experience the complexion of the '70's and benefit from these years, then lead the way into the '80's. Under the leadership of President P. J. Gault, Vice-President Jim Krillenburger, Treasurer Mark Scheiber, and Secretary Mary Dworecki, we have seen many changes and fads which will always bring back the memories of high school. From disco, to punk, from blue jeans to tennis shoes, from cancellation of school because of blizzards to fires, from the coal strike to the entrance into a new decade, these memories will always bring to mind our exciting and unforgettable high school years.

Jimmy Scott reflects about his school years.

Look to this day! For it is life,
The very life of life.
In its brief course lie all the varieties
And realities of your existence.
The bliss of growth,
The glory of action,
The splendor of beauty,
For yesterday is but a dream,
And tomorrow is only a vision;
But today well lived
Makes every yesterday a dream of happiness,
And every tomorrow a vision of hope.
Look well, therefore, to this day!

Yahoo, We Scored

Yes, it can safely be said that our 1980 football team was not a high-scoring ball club. But they did manage to provide a great deal of excitement for the demanding fans. The mainstay of the team seemed to be the defense; the offense often appeared to be ineffective. But, on certain occasions, both squads operated smoothly and were simply outplayed by their opponents.

Although the injury-plagued Eagles had a disappointing record, many individual efforts were justly recognized. The co-captains were Jerry Alford and Jay Colbert, who set characteristic examples for the underclassmen. Their leadership qualities and outstanding play did not go unrewarded as they were elected M.V.P. and Kiwanis award winners respectively.

As shown in some of the games at the end of the season, the frustrated gridders were, as they say, better than their record indicated. And it can be some consolation to say that it was a "rebuilding year," a year to evaluate our strengths and weakness in order to put together a quality team next year.

The B-team football squad should not feel frustrated about their season at all, after concluding with a 3-5-1 season record. They were able to score in every game but two, and, under the leadership of coaches Flora and Haag, they often managed to come from behind and score two-point conversions to eventually obtain their victories. Most valuable back Dan Tarwacki and most valuable lineman Sean Lennon, were two of the team's leaders who helped keep the team always close to their opponents.

First year coaches Bill Groves and Jim Kominkiewicz have every reason to be optimistic about the future of both the B-team and varsity squads after their frosh finished with a 5-4 record for the season. Only two of their four losses were lost by more than seven points and four of their wins were downright routs in which they stopped their adversaries from scoring at all. Led by most valuable back Sonney Oakley and most valuable lineman Raymond Padron, they scored in every game except one and scored 27 points or over in three games.

After the defensive and offensive attributes of these two teams are combined in one or two years, the future of the varsity team can be nothing but promising. The individuals who stand out now will learn to integrate and share their talents, which could provide Adams with strong N.I.C. contending teams in the years to come.

Spikers Strike It Rich

The success of the 1980 volleyball team was due to a total team effort. Plagued by an ineligibility ruling, the girls were forced to forfeit sixteen games, all of which had been wins, during mid season. However, by just winning two games, after the unfortunate ruling, one of them being against number one ranked LaPorte, the girls assumed the number one position with an unheard of 19 losses.

Captains Sue Ushela and Denda Jones along with Lisa McKnight were honored as Athletes of the Week. Sue was also MVP, Kiwanis Award winner and she was named to the NIC first team. Receiving similar recognition was Sharon Weiss who was named to the NIC second team as a setter.

It takes an exceptional team to have a season record of 5-19 and still be voted as number one in the state, during regular season play. A second round loss in the sectionals was the girls final game. As the saying goes, the whole is equal to the sum of its parts. Our 1980 Volleyball Team's success as a whole was due to the outstanding ability of each one of its parts.

The freshman volleyball squad is diligently progressing toward the varsity level. The girls finished the season with twelve wins and just three losses. The record of the frosh's B-team was just as superior, four wins and one loss. Both teams persisted—improving their poise and volleyball skill throughout the season. One game in particular which was situated in Jackson's gymnasium where the Varsity girls after losing the first game rallied to a 15-13, 15-5 victory.

Coached by Maureen McCarthy, both squads revealed a tremendous amount of volleyball ability available for Coach Ganser to tap into for many years to come.

Team effort seems to be the number one rule in order for a volleyball team to be successful, and so it was proven by the B-team squad.

Finding St. Joe as the opposition in just their second game, the girls showed no sign of any jitters by solidly defeating the Indians 15-5, 15-13. Continuing with their winning style of play the girls, led by co-captains Diane Farmer and Karen Gillis, began to gather momentum as they approached the tournament. It took the team three rounds of play against St. Joe, Clay and finally LaSalle before they were named champions. Adams is known for its illustrious volleyball ability, and this group of athletes is how it maintains it.

Runners Stampede Down State

After a mild start, Coach Snyder and his Cross Country Team performed to its ability in post season meets to go down state, a mark that no other South Bend team has done in nineteen years.

The season was highlighted by first place finishes in the Sectionals and Regionals, and a fourth place in Semi-State. In the City meet, the Varsity, B-Team, and Varsity Girls all captured firsts. The Varsity was led with first and second place finishes by Jeff Sypniewski and co-Captain MVP Rick Van Lue, respectively, and a fourth by Junior Lenny Randazzo. The Girls squad showed their ability with second, third, and fourth place finishes by Linda Hemphill, Linda Lowman, and Moe McNulty, respectively.

The Kiwanis Award went to Senior co-Captain Russ Pyles.

The John Adams Tennis Team, under the direction of Mike Allen, finished with an overall record of 21-2 and third in the state. The team dominated their opponents using experience and superb talent.

The team was led by Freshman Paul Koscielski and Senior brother Matt, who combined, lost only three matches. Captain Matt won the Kiwanis, MVP, and Indiana State Mental Attitude Awards. The brothers also gained first team All-Conference.

The NIC Champs has only one other senior, Bill Witsken, who teamed up with Lee Fonacier at the number one doubles spot. Sophomore Chris Toal had a super season at number three singles, as did the freshmen duo of Benson Yang and Chris Foley. Phil Grayson won first year varsity letter playing alternate positions. The key to success in swimming is endurance, the stamina to pull out ahead even at the finish. An example of this is the 1980 Seagal team, led by co-captains Tess Doering and Maria Kusbach. Preceding the sectionals each girl endured a rigorous season of practice and meets. Seniors, Cindy Joers and Maria Kusbach were prominent in the 100 butterfly and Cindy also in the 200 IM. Ingrid Marshall was outstanding in the 100 breast with Junior Mary Stewart helping in the 100 fly, 500 free and 200 IM. MVP was Jennifer Parker and Maria Kusbach was the recipient of the Kiwanis Award. The girls record was 4-9, but it was their third place finish in the sectionals that proved that a Seagal who gives it all will always be a winner.

Wrestlers Pin 'em Down

The John Adams Wrestling Team was hurt this year due to their lack of experience. The team compiled a season record of 4-7. Under Coach McNarney, the team showed their talent by the many great individual performances.

Despite the record, three wrestlers qualified for the state tournament. Senior Ryan Lane and Dave McNarney both won Sectionals and placed 2nd in Regionals, before being eliminated at the Semi-State. Senior MVP and Kiwanis Award Winner Mike McNarney qualified for state by winning Sectionals and Regionals, and placing 3rd in Semi-State. Mike and Ryan were named to 1st team All-Conference at 119 and 138 lbs. respectively, and Senior Greg Hughes made 2nd team at 167 lbs.

Tumblin' Tumble Weeds

The 1980-81 Boys' Gymnastic Team tumbled, scissored, and L-seated their way to achieving the highest point total in the last five years. This accomplishment is evidence of the great improvement of the team despite a record of 2 wins 4 losses.

The highlight of the season was the defeat of Jimtown in which Adams was victorious by a margin of .27. Last year Adams was beaten by Jimtown by the narrow margin of .25! This marks the first time Adams has ever beaten Jimtown in the history of the team. The other win this season was over a tough Elkhart Central team by the score of 92-60.

This year the gymnasts were led by senior captain Steve Papai. An experienced group of juniors, Brad Sakaguchi, Bill Martinov, Dave Kollar, and Rich Loos, provided the support needed for a successful team. Also on the team were two promising sophomores: Todd Harding and Mike Lares. The Kiwanis award winner was Steve Papai and the M.V.P. award went to Brad Sakaguchi.

Seagles Ride'em Bareback

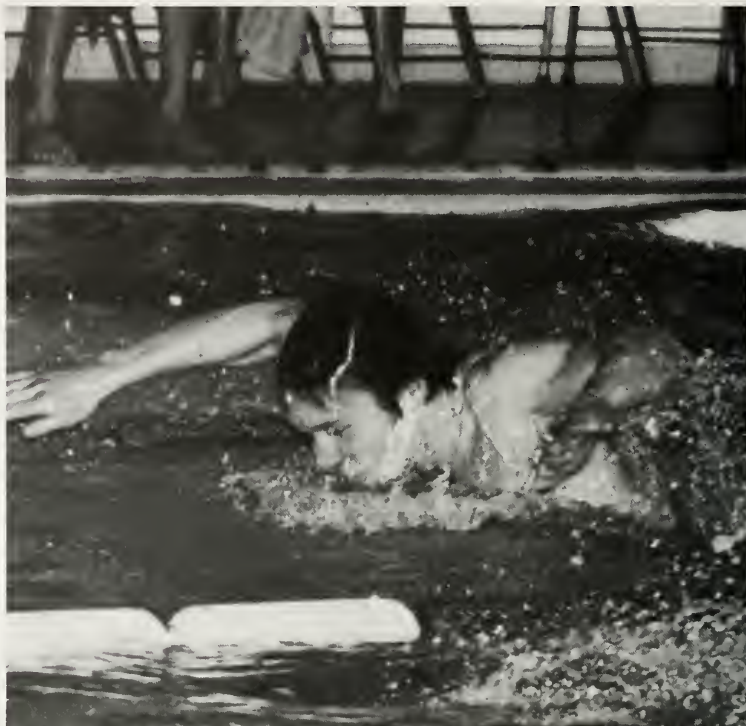

The John Adams Seagles compiled a fairly disappointing record of 3-12 (3-6 in the N.I.C.) with Coach Schlundt at the helm for the second year. But despite their losing record, the team went on to lace fourth in the tough South Bend sectional, qualifying Mike Deren to the state meet at Ball State.

The 1980-81 Seagles were led by senior captain Mike Deren. Aside from setting examples for the other team members, Mike was also the inspirational leader of the team. This was reflected in his being elected as M.V.P. by the rest of the team.

The entire team should be commended for their constant determination and spirit throughout the season. The team's performance improved with every meet. Since Deren is the only graduating member, next year's team will be quite experienced, with many talented underclassmen.

Cowgirls Hoop a Big-on'

The 1981 Girl's Basketball team, under new direction, had no difficulty finding a winning combination. It was Coach Bob Elum's first year and it was the girl's victorious season that indicated fresh ideas paired with talent and experience is the way to win.

The overall varsity record was 13-6, and it can be noted that all 13 wins were decided by an average of 10 points while at times the score ranged from a 25-30 point difference in Adam's favor. This can only be attributed to Adam's fine shooting and outstanding defenses. Sue Ushela and Denda Jones, both seniors, were the co-captains, while Roz Dickens received the MVP Award.

The girls began the sectional tournament by trouncing home team Mishawaka 43-38. However, the second game against St. Joe was a tough and low scoring one which unfortunately ended the season for the Eagles. The B-team, led by Kelly McMahon and Julie Yazel finished their season with 8 wins and 1 loss. This is an indication of good things yet to come in girls' basketball.

The Hadaway Hustlers

John Adams High School is recognized for its high caliber basketball, and the 1980-81 varsity team reinforced this fact. Co-Captains Cary McMahon and Jerry Alford unified a relatively new group of fine players into one of the top teams in the area.

Three strong conference opponents, Clay, Washington and Riley all suffered defeats within a four week period, giving the Eagles that winning momentum which carried into the sectional tourney. Game one against St. Joe was won by one point thanks to Brian Lennon's shot at the buzzer. The second game, forced into overtime, ended in a two point victory for Adams over LaSalle. But, in the third and final game, Riley proved to be too much to handle.

First year player and senior Cordett Newsome was named to both the All Conference and the All Metro teams. MVP was Jerry Alford and Kiwanis winner was Cary McMahon. Although there were a number of outstanding seniors, the team was not complete without the fine junior and sophomore players. This experience held by the younger players is a definite indication that the top notch level of basketball characteristic to Adams will continue.

Hustlers Shoot-Out

The John Adams basketball program is rebuilding by giving its junior varsity and freshman teams ample playing time to give them the experience needed for the varsity level.

This years B-Team was composed of mainly sophomores, but also included were five freshmen. The promotion of players from B-Team to Varsity may have hurt their final season record of 4-15, but it doesn't indicate how all the players were able to gain experience for the upcoming years.

The B-Team was led by Mike Holmes and Mike Marable who averaged 7.1 and 10 points per game respectively, and Phil Grayson who led the team in rebounds. The Freshman squad compiled a record of 8-7.

The players and coaches of these teams have an optimistic future to look forward to in the years ahead.

Young Bucks Tag Horsehide

New, fresh talent was in abundance when Coach Buczkowski was faced with the choosing of his 1981 boy's baseball team. Although young, the team was far from inexperienced. Seniors, Marc Simon, Brian Oletti, and Brian Lares filled the pitching position, while at catcher was Cary McMahon, in the outfield was Russ Piles.

Overall, the boys were very successful. Their record in the conference, 10-8, earned them a fourth place finish in the area, which is very commendable when considering their tough competition.

Notable wins for the Eagles came against such teams as St. Joe, Elkhart Memorial, Penn, Riley, and LaSalle. A number of junior players have become accustomed to winning, like Edgar Cabello, Peter Stinchcomb, Bill Martinov, Scott McMahon, and Brian Lennon. With experience the Eagles will have a definite edge next season.

Runnin' Wild

The John Adams Boys' Track team, under the direction of Coach Doug Snyder, was looking for its third consecutive state ranking this year. Much talent was shown by members at the season meets. The team had a compiled season record of 5-4 and a fourth place finish in the N.I.C.

After finishing fourth in the Sectionals, five members qualified for the Regionals. The team was led by Cory Forrest, whose finish in the 400 meters broke a school record, and by Jeff Sypniewski, who placed second in his division. Other leaders included Chuck Elum, Rick Van Lue, and Paul Bivens.

The co-Captain stars went to seniors Dick Carpenter and Bill Duxbury. With a 4-5 record, the Junior Varsity gained experience and shows promise for next year's team.

A Bunch-a Top Rate Bananas

Girl's Tennis in Northern Indiana is fiercely competitive but the 1981 Bananas have overcome this fact. Due to the fine coaching of Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Gyorgyi, the girls brought their talent and experience together to form championship teams both on the varsity and B-team levels.

The key to Adams' undefeated season is the depth of the playing ability which extends into both doubles and singles. Seniors were in abundance with Lisa Bowers and Lisa Frieden at singles and Liz Gundlach and June Vascil at No. 1 doubles. Liz and June served as the team's co-captains as well.

Juniors Greta Roemer and Lisa True experienced great success in their seasons at No. 1 and No. 3 singles respectively. Greta won the titles of Sectional and Regional singles champion and won fourth place in Indianapolis at the State tourney.

As a whole, the team won the N.I.C. without dropping a match, and brought home the Sectional and Regional titles.

Equally successful was this year's B-team which emerged victoriously in the season as well as in the area tourney. This powerhouse B-team along with the returning varsity players promises another season filled with victories. Our bunch has the top bananas around.

Double-Barreled Clubs

The John Adams Golf team was noted as one of the best teams in the area this year. With a little more pre-season practice, this team could have been the best. After a fifth place finish in the Sectionals, the team won the Kaeppler Invitational with an improved score of twenty-two strokes. With an overall record of 16-5, the team was 5-4 in the conference.

Coach Otolski's team was led by junior Dave Lobeck whose 80.3 personal average produced many fine rounds. Dave was followed by John Gyorgyi and Gene Szabo with averages of 81.9 and 82.2, respectively.

With a 4.3 stroke improvement over last year and upcoming underclassmen, the team has a promising outlook in the future.

These Gals Don't Mosey Around

One of the most exceptional teams at Adams this year was the amazing girls' track team. They literally ran away with the N.I.C. title, while they were on their way to completing an outstanding undefeated season.

Coach Reed could be nothing but impressed and very pleased as his girls hurdled, jumped and sprinted their way to a flawless season. This fantastic team was ranked #1 in the N.I.C. and #7 in the state, so it was no surprise to anyone that they were heavily favored to win the sectional. And it was certainly not a fluke when they did capture the sectional title.

Junior Beth Carter had a habit of winning consistent firsts in the 400 meter, helping the team greatly. Other important assets were freshman sensation Tessa Billups in the 100 meter dash and Julie Davis in the 200 meter.

The four seniors on the team were also major factors in the team's success. Seniors Sherry Bolden and Angela Watson were invaluable in the 100 meter hurdles as they collected important points which often made the difference between victory and defeat.

In the field events, the team also shined. Lisa McKnight was simply awesome in the shotput and discus events. This senior standout broke about every record possible on her way to qualifying for the state meet. Another senior, Lynne Quimby, was phenomenal in the high jump, along with the versatile Beth Carter.

A huge congratulations should be given to the entire team and to Coach Reed. They have truly set a standard which will be hard to live up to in the years to come.

Roamin' the Field

Competition for the first year of the newly formed soccer team has indicated that a vast group of experienced players have stepped into the limelight to reveal their superior talent. Under the direction of Coach Jim Tallman, Adams has established itself as a top area team as their 9-1 record clearly supports. The team, although dominated by such senior stars as Don MacDonell, Marty McKiernan, Mark Schieber and Lee Weaver, contains numerous underclassmen whose abilities are definitely impressive. Two female members, Electa Sevier and Teresa Patton are far from being dominated by an almost all boys team.

Support for the Eagles intensified as the season progressed toward what was the final deciding game for the area championship. The opponent was Saint Joe and the victors were the Eagles, 2-1

The outlook for this team is very bright due to the gaining interest in the sport along with the veterans who are always willing to share their knowledge and talent with an ambitious new player.

Pitchin' 'N Grinnin'

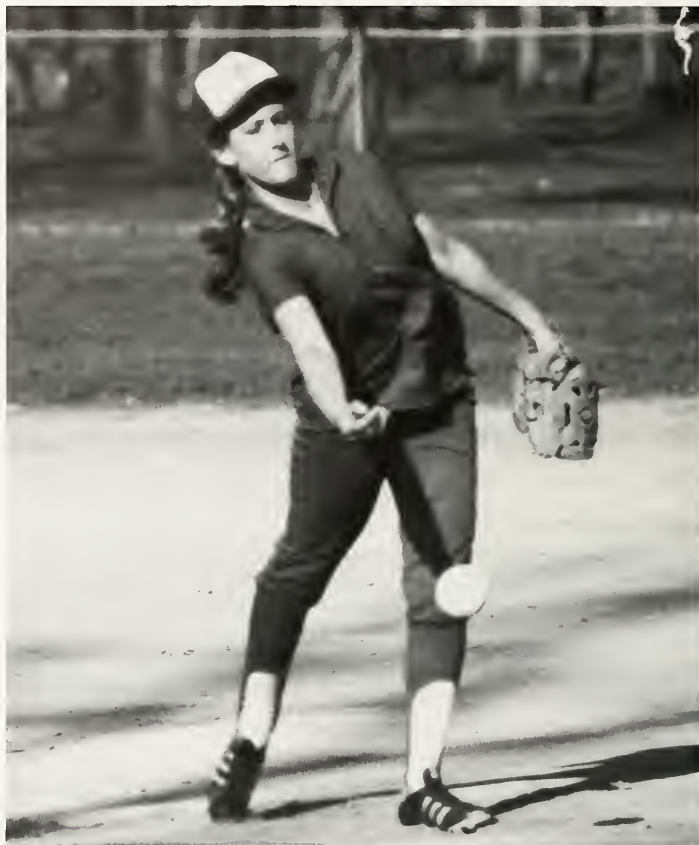

In the past few years, the John Adams Softball team has dominated its area competition, and this year was no exception.

The team was led by five, experienced seniors: Sandy Call, Dena Jones, Shirley Thomas, Maureen McNulty, and Anita Griffiths. Anita was a foreign exchange student from Australia who was made outstanding pitching contributions to the team. Against Mich. City Elston she set a new school record of 15 strikeouts. The leading hitters were Denda Jones, Sandy Call, and junior Shelly Jablonski, who was also the #1 pitcher.

Coach Flora will have quite a few talented and experienced underclassmen returning next year and he's optimistic that the winning tradition can continue for many years to come.

Leaders in a New Frontier

The Student Government is one of the most influential and active student organizations within our school. Eight representatives from each of the four classes earn positions in the Student Government by popular vote.

The Principal's Student Advisory Committee, created this year by Mr. Prysybyz, has helped to introduce new ideas which were sent to the Student Government for approval. It was through these channels that school dance policy was determined and put into action.

The major activity of the Student Government was the "Post Valentine's Day Dance." The dance was well attended and apparently enjoyed by all. It also had the distinction of being the first financially successful dance in years. All in all, the 1981 club had a good year.

The Rough Writers

The 1980-81 Tower staff was brilliant in informing Adams teachers, staff, and students. The Tower was sponsored by Mrs. Maza and led by senior editors Mark Weisman, Eleanor Pollack, and Mark Miller. The staff was made up of both upper and lower classmen, who had applied for the staff early in the year. The Tower is given out free to any person who has bought an Album. It is delivered in homeroom every other Friday. The Tower was successful in communicating to students and staff on the subjects of school sports, school clubs, and outstanding student and faculty achievements. The editors entertained and opened minds with their comments on sometimes controversial topics in their editorials. All in all, the Tower staff deserves much recognition and respect for another successful year.

Pride Gallops thru B. A. C.

The John Adams High School Black Awareness Club has become even more active this year than they were last year. They sponsored a very successful dance in the fall. During Black History Week, they promoted pride in the black culture with a series of biographies of prominent black inventors broadcasted over the P.A. during the daily announcements. The newly established activity period has been a great help to the Black Awareness Club in that it has enabled club membership to increase. During the forty minute period, the members have an opportunity to listen to black speakers from the community who have made outstanding contributions in their field. The time is also used to plan future meetings.

Although the club membership is composed completely of black students, the club welcomes students of all races who are interested in black culture.

Horse Play

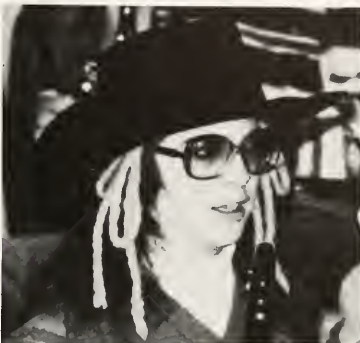

Beads of sweat trickle down the performers' faces. They can feel the butterflies in their stomachs. Then the curtain goes up; the crowd applauds enthusiastically as the performers make their entrance. Suddenly all their jitters miraculously disappear. The thrill of acting pushes away all fears and the play goes off beautifully as usual. During the fall of 1980, drama club members made their way to Chicago to see the Broadway show, Evita and during the spring they made their way back to the windy city to see yet another production.

During the school year, the Drama club presented many plays including Our Town which ran Nov. 6, 7, 8, directed by Marilyn Goerner and written by Thornton Wilder.

Our Town presented many new members but also included the more seasoned performers from previous years. During the winter the club tried a concept that had not been tried for a few years, two, one act plays. They were: "A Marriage Proposal" by Anton Checkov, and "The Lottery" by Brainerd Duffield.

Helpin' Hands

The Tower and Album Homeroom representatives serve the students of John Adams High School in more ways than most people realize. Homeroom teachers select the reps and make a sincere attempt to choose the student who will be reliable and perform the duties assigned to him or her with the utmost care.

The most common job for the homeroom reps is the distribution of Towers on Friday mornings. Each person who has purchased a yearbook receives a Tower. The reps gather around the infamous Tower office to pick up the papers and then faithfully make their way back to their homeroom, not unlike the fabled mail carrier, who braves rain, snow, sleet, and hail.

Another important service that the homeroom representatives render is taking charge of yearbook payments and promoting yearbook sales.

Band Together Boys

The Pep Band, consisting of a crop of the school's best musicians, provided much fun and entertainment at assemblies and home basketball halves. Working under the direction of Mr. Dweyer, the Pep Band helped the cheerleaders and pom pom girls excite the fans. They also performed at the Holiday Tourney in the Athletic and Convocation Center. Mark T. Kurowski says, "Being in the Pep Band is a thoroughly rewarding experience. It is especially rewarding when one thinks about what games and pep assemblies would be without the loyal Pep Band. Mr. Dweyer arranged some of the music for the band, including "School's Out For Summer," "The Budweiser Song, ("You said it all"), "Go," and the Gary Roosevelt school song.

Out Under the Stars

Gazing at the stars . . . kind of romantic, isn't it? Well that's just what the Astrology Club has in store for you. Having begun only last year, the Astronomy Club is Adams newest organization. Mr. Moriarty, the club sponsor, is quite pleased with the enthusiasm the students have shown and looks for some interesting times in the coming year. Although the telescopes that are used now belong to Mr. Moriarty himself, he hopes that much of the needed equipment could be borrowed from other schools. The front tower, pending approval, will be converted into an observatory and the intention is to build a telescope up there. Guest speakers were lined up for meetings. Two trips were taken to area planetariums. This new club is a fine addition to the string of great clubs here at Adams.

Call Out the Office Aides

"Good afternoon, John Adams High School, Student aide speaking," is a common telephone greeting heard throughout the day when the main switchboard lights up. Dedicated students perform many tasks that help to keep the school running smoothly as they assist the secretaries in the main offices and in the guidance department. They pick up and record attendance sheets from each classroom hourly. Another of their duties is to file information and to deliver memos to students and teachers.

Hockey Team Ropes Victories

The 1980-81 Eagles Hockey Club teamed up with Washington High School to produce a successful season for the second consecutive year. The overall season record was 10 wins, 8 losses, and 2 ties. The club was also a favorite in post season play. Games were played at the Ice Box and the Notre Dame A.C.A. The team was led by coach Pat McMahon, and by senior captains Donald MacDonnel and Doug Zimmerman. An outstanding game was exhibited by Finnish foreign exchange student Anssi Turri, when he scored 5 goals and dished out 2 assists in a losing cause against archrival St. Joe. The team raised money early in the season by selling raffle tickets and by getting team sponsors. The next few years look bright, because of the contributions made to the team by a large number of underclassmen.

"Wild Bill" 'N His Pardners

The administration of John Adams High School is under the leadership of three respected and outstanding men; Principal William Przybysz and Assistant Principals Donald David, and Andrew Bibbs. They are always aware of and willing to assist any problems or misunderstandings that concern their students. Their abilities to relate to students and adults alike keeps John Adams running smoothly.

Despite strict enforcement of the important things, openness is expressed through various committees such as Student Government, Mr. Przybysz's Student Advisory Committee (consisting of members of the student body), and his Parent Advisory Committee (consisting of concerned parents).

Mr. Przybysz also shows enthusiasm towards the students by his consistent participation in pep assemblies and school activities. The three principals do their part for school spirit by wearing the traditional red and blue on Fridays.

Counselors Lend a Helping Hand

James Chambers
Counselor

The Counseling Department is always ready to help students from the moment they step into Adams up until the time they graduate. Whether the problem is a wrong class or a schedule conflict, the counselors are on hand to solve it as soon as possible. Without them, the always-hectic arena scheduling would be a disaster. They sift through a multitude of schedules twice a year to see if everyone is getting all the required courses for graduation. New this year is the "Night Counseling Program." Once a month counselors are available in the Guidance Office from seven to nine p.m. for those who are unable to get to the office during the normal daytime hours. This program is one of the many ways the counselors demonstrate their willingness to help students in any way they can. Whenever any conflict arises in schedules or classes, remember to visit the Guidance Office for the best possible advice.

Have you ever walked down the front hall, past the seemingly never-ending line of offices, and wondered what actually goes on behind those doors? Whether you realize it or not, the list of responsibilities goes on and on. Three secretaries take care of all the filing, typing, and phone answering that goes on. All of the financial records and money matters are taken care of by one person. And if you've ever gotten sick, you know how important the school nurse is!

The next time you get a message, an admit, or even a package of notebook paper from the pencil shop, think of those ladies who work every day to make it possible.

Tendin' to Our Needs

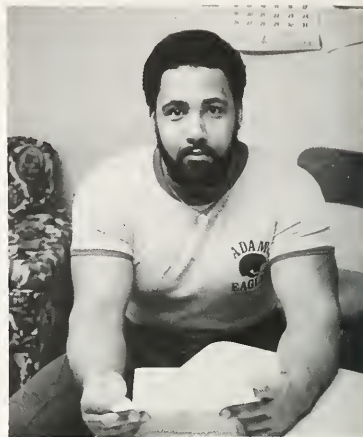

There are two specialized groups of faculty members here at John Adams. Each of them consists of two respected and very much appreciated people.

The paraprofessionals (better known to students as "hall guards") can be seen throughout the halls during the course of the day. Their job is to see to it that students aren't skipping classes or wandering in the halls when they are supposed to be somewhere else.

The librarians are available to help students at almost any time during the day, five days a week. Whether you need assistance in finding a book or newspaper article, they are always willing to advise students in any way they can.

Two indispensable staffs at John Adams are the custodians and the ladies who work in the cafeteria. Without them to keep the floors clean and students' appetites satisfied, the school would not be complete. Unfortunately, much of the work done by these people is taken for granted. Whether outwardly shown or not, it is greatly appreciated. So the next time you eat lunch in the cafeteria or stare out the window of your sixth hour class, think about those dedicated and reliable members of our school's staff that prepared that meal or washed that window.

John Douglas does his best to keep the halls of Adams clean and shiny and still manage to flash a smile for the photographer.

Cowpokes Rampage Thru Books

English is one of the most useful courses any student can take. Besides providing a basic understanding of the English language, it serves as a preparation for college and/or business.

Freshman year, students concentrate on development of an increased vocabulary, proper grammar and usage, and the study of the short story. Sophomores are introduced to speech, literature, and writing, and end the year by creating some of their own "literary works." Juniors and Seniors take composition and literature classes to improve their ability in written expression. They are also designed to prepare students for further study at the college level.

English classes are an asset to every student because they provide the necessary tools for communicating with others.

Students Conquer Plains of Math

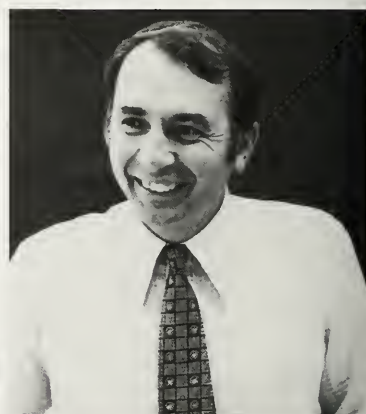

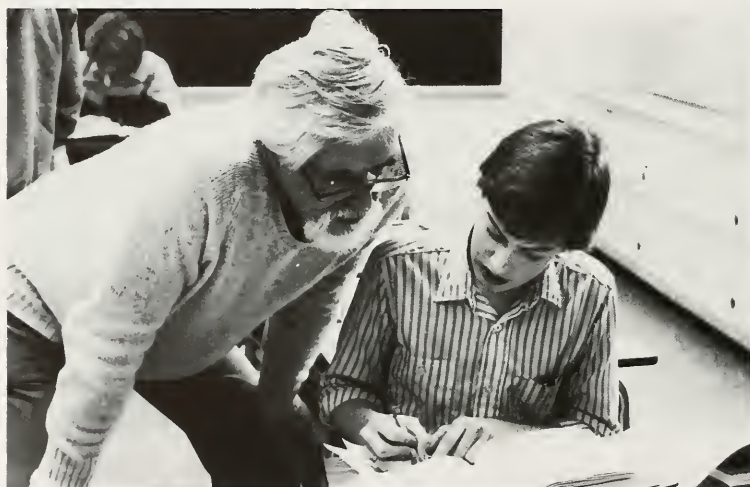

The Mathematics Department at John Adams is more than just counting and solving numbers up to ten. Under the direction of Mr. Barnbrook, it offers the best possible instruction and indepth coverage of the subject as is possible. Most freshman discover the complexities of equations in algebra. Sophomores are introduced to circles and triangles with more precision in geometry. Juniors usually take algebra trigonometry, which reviews algebra and expands to trig (a new set of problems.) Seniors can either take college algebra or calculus, both of which refine previous learning for more exact thought processes. Math, while developing talents for immediate problems, also sharpens the mind for future situations.

Pioneers in the Lab

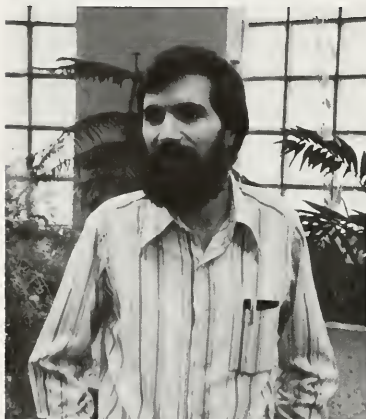

John Adams can definitely be proud of the fine Science Department it possesses. Whether students are studying beasties, molecules, the laws of motion, or erosion, they are receiving first-rate instruction in that field. Many students in Research Biology receive grants and financial aid to further their resources and provide more elaborate equipment with which they can conduct their projects. The "Pets" in Mr. Goodman's room are three computers, available to students upon request, that aid in the understanding of several aspects of chemistry as well as physics. In general, the Science Department offers an educational experience plus a well-rounded background for the future.

Legends That Are Learned

The Social Studies Department gives students the opportunity to gain an understanding of our heritage and awareness of current affairs. Freshmen acquire a basic knowledge of the civilization of the entire world and our government by taking either the World Civilization course of Introduction to Social Studies. In United States History classes, Juniors learn of our country's history and the ideas upon which it was founded. Seniors take a semester of American Government along with another semester of either Crime and Law or Psychology. Students are exposed to man's past, present, and future in order to help them become better acquainted with, and assume responsibility in, our modern society.

Language Round-Up

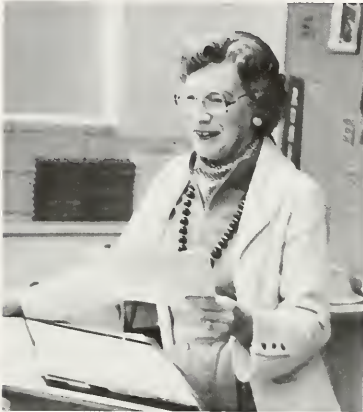

Every romantic dream consists of an equally romantic city where language flows softly and smoothly from the mouths of its inhabitants. Any city in France, Spain, Germany, or Italy can provide this culture for you. Yet, the average student at Adams cannot just pick up and go to Europe whenever they want to. The Foreign Language classes offer students the next best thing with extensive programs in these four main native country languages. You can learn the basics in French, Spanish, German, or Latin; or, you can advance to independent study and conversation. Each class offers an education of not only the language, but the people and customs as well.

The Stockworkers

The Business Department here at John Adams offers students a wide variety of courses that will help them in the future as well as in high school. In today's world of computers and elaborate office equipment, some background in business is unquestionably helpful. Typing, for instance, provides students with the basics for getting a term paper completed, or in depth instruction for those interested in secretarial work. Accounting isn't only for future CPA's. It teaches the right way to balance and set up financial records. Shorthand enables students to take notes in half the time and space. The ICT and DECA programs offer students the chance to receive class credits and money for doing a job they are interested in. These classes prove to be valuable for all students no matter what their future career may be.

Home on the Range

The Home Economics Department at John Adams offers many types of courses which will be useful to many students. Besides sewing and cooking, Mrs. Flowers and Mrs. VanderWeide teach a variety of classes ranging from child development to giving a party. Learning proper nutrition habits and meal planning will undoubtedly come in handy for all of us, regardless of what career we choose later in life. It never hurts anyone to know how to mend a sock or hem a pair of pants (especially if you're short!) If you're planning to go off to college knowing how to fix something besides peanut butter and jelly or spaghetti's would prove to be valuable.

The Central Career Center is available for those students who would like to further their knowledge in their career of interest. Students that participate in this program are striving for specialized training in such courses as photography, drama, commercial art, child care, and building trades. Three hours of intensive study enables the students to utilize their skills to their potential. With this type of training the student is capable of entering the working world after the completion of high school.

Keepin' the Critter's in Shape

Physical Education classes give students the opportunity to take a break from the busy schedules they have. For approximately forty-five minutes each day, students can participate in either mass games, tennis, volleyball, apparatus, swimming . . . the list goes on and on. Only Freshmen are required to take a gym class, but many sophomores, juniors, and seniors enjoy a change in the monotony of their daily routine. Besides providing a fun form of exercise, P.E. classes enable the student to forget about their tests—until next hour that is!

We would like to express our appreciation and thanks to everyone who contributed to this year's Album. Our special thanks go to the following:

Mr. Allen and Mr. Thompsett—for putting up with all our last minute photo assignments and for their cooperation and help,

Joe Raymond and the South Bend Tribune—for allowing us to use their photographs,

Mrs. Muessel—for all her paperwork and assistance,

Joan Forster, Patrick Hubbard, Andrew Reinke, and Ryan Lane—for their outstanding artwork,

Mr. Ailes—for all his cooperation, advice, and humor, (even when things didn't seem funny).

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alpern, Mr and Mrs. Clyde Gundlach, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Richards, Mr. Richard Maza, and Miss Jill Maza—for their never ending support and backing,

And finally, Mrs. Maza without whose understanding, guidance, and patience this yearbook would not be possible. No words of thanks can express our gratitude for everything that she has done.

Thanks for a great year!
Jackie, Jane, and Liz

If for each ending an evening came,
we would know scarlet better than any friend,
sunsets would wander in every breath.
Passing into further shadow from shadow, we would see shades of red and gold and then the night, the night.
If for each ending an evening came,
and if circles did not pass into circles,
if the sun had only the purpose to go down,
if west continued indefinitely,
we would be bathed in the scarlet and would know only dying and there would only be the pouring out into the west, no world, no brightness.

However, you will find as you sit out the night,
that there are other countries,
and morning and east are the words.
